

Community Health Worker Apprenticeship

Looking for not just a job, but a career? Take a closer look at becoming a

Community Health Worker

If you are a Californian resident with a disability looking to get into the workforce, now is the time to start a rewarding career as an apprentice Community Health Worker!

The Ready, Willing and Able initiative is currently recruiting for high-quality positions as apprentice Community Health Workers in the Los Angeles area.

Community Health Workers are frontline public health workers who are trusted members of the community. Their role is to identify health and other needs of the community and individuals in the community and connect them to much needed services and resources, providing social support, education, outreach, and advocacy.

Through combining paid employment with on-the-job training and formal technical instruction, as an apprentice Community Health Worker you will:

- Earn while you learn
- Develop practical skills and experience in a real world setting
- Study towards a nationally recognized qualification
- Work and learn alongside industry professionals

Pre-Requisites:

- Must be 18 years or older
- High School Graduate or its equivalent
- Complete an application for enrollment
- Enrollment Agreement
-

Program Highlights:

- Accelerated Program Length (4 weeks)
- Comprehensive orientation
- 15 Evidence-Based Learning Modules
- 10 hours clinical experiences
- 6 Month Externship with a coach/mentor
- Hybrid and online class options.

Did you know that upon qualification Community Health Workers enjoy a median starting salary of $51,451? *

<https://www.salary.com/research/salary/listing/community-health-worker-salary>

HOW TO APPLY

To apply now please email recruitment@readywillingable.us
For more information phone Alexandra Mendoza on 949 685 9020

READY, WILLING AND ABLE

DOR
DEPARTMENT of
REHABILITATION
Empower. Inspire. & Equip.

iwsiamerica
THE INSTITUTE FOR WORKPLACE SKILLS AND INNOVATION

theleon
institute

Ready, Willing and Able is a partnership between the California Department of Rehabilitation and the Institute for Workplace Skills and Innovation America which seeks to aide Californians with disabilities to access exciting full-time career opportunities.

www.readywillingable.us

Community Health Worker

What You Need to Know

A Community Health Worker is responsible for helping patients and their families navigate and access health and community services while adopting healthy behaviors.

A Community Health Worker works as a care team member through an integrated approach to care management and community outreach. A Community Health Worker promotes, maintains, and improves the health of patients and their families by providing social support and informal counseling. A Community Health Worker partners closely with different providers, patients, and outside organizations and is responsible for facilitating communication between patient and care teams and provides culturally appropriate health education and self-management support.

Additionally, a Community Health Worker will collaborate within a team-based care delivery model to improve the health and lives of our community members. A Community Health Worker will participate in the development and implementation of innovative, cost-effective delivery system changes that proactively meet the complex needs of patients, including efforts to manage their behavioral and social needs in addition to their medical care.

What Do You Need To Succeed In This Role?

This job will suit individuals who possess:

- Bilingual skills are preferred and specific to the patient population being served.
- Ability to use a computer, Microsoft Office, EMR, and proficient in accessing and searching the internet
- Strong communication and writing skills
- Excellent time management and organizational skills
- Willingness to work some weekend/evening hours depending on project and community needs, such as advocacy and community capacity-building activities
- Demonstrated ability to work as an effective team member in a complex and fast-paced environment
- Excellent interpersonal skills and demonstrated ability to interact professionally with culturally and educationally diverse staff and clients
- Must have the ability to work with highly sensitive and confidential information

Ready, Willing and Able is a partnership between the California Department of Rehabilitation and the Institute for Workplace Skills and Innovation America which seeks to aide Californians with disabilities to access exciting full-time career opportunities.

www.readywillingable.us